Description
The "Spa Style" Master Bathroom Renovation The original Master Bathroom had certainly served them well. For many years, it performed admirably. But it was time for a change. A fresh, new style. Some needed updates. Yes, it was time. Inspired by a beautiful country club bathroom, our clients came to us with a goal of renovating their existing Master Bathroom into an upscale "spa style" Master Bathroom. One that integrated functional and relaxing design elements, and a thoughtful list of wants and needs. All in a classic, tasteful way. The primary items on the wish list were largely fulfilled by a mindful redistribution of the existing space. Here are some of the requests and results: § A soaking tub Before: The original tub had unwanted jets and was larger than the client desired. After: The new soaking tub is slightly smaller than the original, allowing for more space to be devoted to other design elements. Custom Wellborn matching wainscot panels complete this lovely area. § A walk in shower Before: The original shower was small and outdated. After: The redesign afforded the additional square footage to achieve this request. Generously sized, the new shower is accented with sparkling white subway tile and glass tile accents. A frameless shower door and updated fixtures complete this new area. § Increased vanity space Before: Limited storage and counter space was insufficient for two people. After: Enlarged from the original design, this area now provides the homeowners with a bounty of useful space. There is ample counter space, convenient open cabinet space, and plenty of beautiful maple dovetail drawers for both husband and wife. Wellborn Monterey Maple in Glacier proved to be the perfect cabinetry choice, in both form and function. § A vanity area with seating and storage

Before: There was none!

After: Redesign of a previously unused corner allowed this new area to transpire. Wellborn cabinetry is the foundation for this practical space that includes a pullout for cosmetics, useful open storage, and vanity drawers. A fresh, new style. Classic, tasteful design elements. The “spa style” Master Bathroom is beautifully complete.
